Description

Amberjack

The Stessco Amberjack sits in the runabout range and provides a multi-use platform for inshore and light offshore use. Superbly universal, the Stessco Amberjack is capable of fishing, water sports, or simply cruising. The Amberjack offers an open layout and the windscreen at the bow offers maximum protection.

Available in models 520 to 640, the Breezeaway range is designed with an open cockpit, a seat at the rear, with seating for two at the helm. The Stessco Amberjack is the perfect boat for a family or even for two mates looking for a versatile trailerable fishing boat. There is plenty of space on offer throughout and a plethora of options to keep everyone happy.

The helm position features a classy fibreglass insert with a deluxe seat offering visibility over the windscreen for the average size person. An open floor leaves plenty of room for your equipment, while the rear lounge box provides additional storage.

You can elect to have an optional fish board at the transom to make it easier to prepare rigs or cut up bait, or you can drop in an optional ski pole, throw an inflatable tube out the back and tow the kids around. It is all in a day's work for the Amberjack.

Built on Stessco's Softride hull, the Amberjack offers fantastic performance and has a fine entry flattening out towards the stern offering unbeatable stability at rest. That all important feeling of safety is assured with a deep freeboard combined with stability to deliver best in class safety.

Stessco has ensured that the range comes with a host of standard features minimising the hassle and making that all important act of getting on the water a simple and stress-free process. A lockable glovebox, boarding rails and ladder, stern door, and deluxe seats are all standard.
